

FARMERS' PRODUCE TO COME DIRECT TO THE CONSUMER IN MAILS

LA CROSSE TO GET BUTTER AND EGGS VIA PARCEL POST

Postmaster General Aims to Reduce Living Cost by Shipping Direct to Local Consumers

Then Housekeeper Can Order
Produce Direct and Uncle Sam Will Be the Only Middleman

EIGHT OTHER CITIES ARE NAMED
Scheme Will Be Tried Out
and if Successful Will Be Broadened to Include
Entire Country

As the result of an order issued by Postmaster General Burleson at Washington, La Crosse housewives will be given an opportunity to get by parcel post their butter, eggs and other farm products direct from the producer.

La Crosse, according to word received here today, is one of the nine cities selected by the department as an experimental station at which Mr. Burleson's plan for reducing the cost of living will be tried out.

The postoffice department will furnish farmers with lists of local consumers. The La Crosse consumers will be furnished lists of farmers willing to sell direct. Mr. La Crosse Housewife may order, through the mail, what she desires, in the way of farm produce. It will be delivered to her, the only "mid-dler" to drag off a profit being Uncle Sam.

Postmaster General Burleson has also issued an order permitting the use of crates and boxes for butter, eggs, poultry, vegetables and fruit
to be shipped by parcel post.

Get Shippers' List.
Orders went on Sunday to the postmasters at Boston, Atlanta, St.
Louis, San Francisco, Baltimore,
Detroit, La Crosse, Lynn, Mass., Rock Island, Ill., directing them "to receive the names of persons who are willing to supply farm products
in retail quantities by parcel post." Printed lists of these names, showing kind and quantity of commodity available, will be distributed among town and city patrons.

By the use of the lists the consumer will be able to get in touch with a farmer who will fill his weekly orders for butter and eggs and other farm products. The consumer will receive the produce fresh from the country and the personal relationship established will no doubt tend to improve the quality.
The farmer will be relieved of carrying the produce to market as the rural carrier will make daily collections at the farmer's own door
of these retail shipments to city consumers.

Solves Hamper Question.
The point has been raised that difficulties will be experienced in the return of hampers and other containers. The farmer may use inexpensive hampers, whose value
would not warrant their return, or he may use the higher grade hampers for which he may include an additional charge to be credited to the consumer upon the return of the hamper by parcel post.

"The postmaster general," said a local official, "has the firm conviction that this plan is the one thing necessary to enable the people of this country to enjoy the potential benefits of the parcel post. No one has ever questioned the possibility of reducing the cost of living by establishing direct relations between the ultimate consumer and the original producer. A complete means for such direct transportation was provided for the first time by establishment of the domestic parcel post,
but there has been lacking an agency
by means of which the individual purchaser could get in touch with the individual producer. The postmaster general's plan is designed to provide this agency for the most economical distribution of those products which are consumed in the home and in condition in which they are produced."

Club Women Approve.
WASHINGTON, March 23.—
"Fresh eggs, butter, vegetables and fruit at your door each day, right
from the hen, the churn, the garden and the orchard. That is what we have been working for, and in opening the parcel post to such commodities, the postoffice department has struck a terrible blow to the high cost of living," Mrs. Ellis Logan,

BIG RECEPTION IS TO PRECEDE THE COMMUNITY FEAST

La Crosse Methods to Be

provement

Program and No Introductions Is Rule
Laid Down

Tomorrow will witness a get-together meeting of farmers and business men such as has never been held in La Crosse county. The first community banquet will be held at Germania hall tomorrow noon, when between 300 and 350 farmers and business men will join in discussing matters of common interest.

Reception First.
A "grand reception" will be held in Germania hall from 10 o'clock in the morning until noon, when the banquet will be served by the ladies of the Caledonia St. M. E. church.
During the reception and banquet
the Kreutz orchestra will render a splendid musical program which has been arranged for the occasion.

Each of the 300 farmers will be presented with a white ribbon on entering the building, which will bear his name in large letters and beneath which will be printed,
"Community Banquet, March 24, 1914, La Crosse, Wis." The business men of La Crosse will wear blue ribbons also bearing their names.
This idea has been adopted as a means of facilitating the forming of acquaintances without the formality of an introduction.

While no formal banquet program has been adopted, H. C. Evenson, toastmaster, today declared that several good speakers will take occasion to address the banquet on matters of personal interest.

Want Farmers' Viewpoint
"This is the first real opportunity for an interchange of ideas between the farmer and the business man,"
he said, "and we are all anxious to see ourselves and our business as the farmer does."

Several prominent farmers have announced that they will speak concerning La Crosse market conditions, pointing out the defects from their standpoint and what advantages are offered by the markets of other near-by towns which are lacking here. In other words, the farmers will be invited to find fault with the management of La Crosse
business firms, to pick flaws in La Crosse business methods and to tell the La Crosse business man how he should conduct his business for the mutual benefit of himself and the farmers.

One of the big issues of the banquet will be that of a free bridge and the farmers are expected to voice their sentiment freely on this question and the effect it has on the La Crosse market. The business men have made arrangements for a free bridge tomorrow, the council having revoked toll upon petition of the banqueters.

SALOON STOCKED WITH TEA

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 23.— Cold tea instead of good liquor and weak tea at that, filled many of the bottles in a saloon, for a half interest in which Joseph Arderchik says he paid $800, according to the charges Arderchik made to Police Captain Fleming. The man who is said to have sold the saloon is being held by the police.

ENGINE CREW KILLED

OSKALOOSA, Ia., March 23.—
Engineer George Starr and Fireman
Peterson of the Illinois & St. Louis railroad were killed last night in a head on collision between their light
and a double header freight, Henry R. Trimm, fireman on the first engine of the double header, was caught on the gangway and internally injured and may die.

The county audit has been completed and the report of the auditors carefully locked away in the vault of the county clerk to be guarded from the public and supervisors alike until Wednesday when the county board will hold its spring meeting. This is the information imparted with some reluctance by County Clerk Bert Jolivet this morning.

Mr. Jolivet while refusing to reveal any of the details contained in the report, intimated that it is lacking in sensational discoveries and that with the exception of a few errors of little importance, nothing irregular was found in the county books.

In reference to the alleged irregularity in connection with money spent by the road and bridge committee at the time Oscar Hulberg was acting as chairman, Mr. Jolivet remained silent, declaring that nothing in regard to this incident can be made public until such time as the report is submitted to the county board.

Supervisor V. S. Keppel of the Town of Onalaska, who instigated
the special audit by repeated attacks on financial accounts of the county is said to be contemplating further action, but when interviewed Mr. Keppel refused to commit himself, saying that his further action depends entirely on the nature of the audit report.

The audit report will probably be introduced before the county board of supervisors and read by County Clerk Bert Jolivet at Wednesday morning's session. The disposal of the report will probably be the most important business taken up by the board at the coming meeting.

POSSIBILITY T. R. HAS MET ACCIDENT

Colonel's Expedition on the Upper Amazon River Is Reported to Have Been Wrecked

NEW YORK, March 23.—Some anxiety was felt here today by the relatives and friends of Col. Theodore Roosevelt in consequence of dispatches from Brazil in which it was stated that an accident had been met with by the Roosevelt party on the upper Amazon. The news came in a telegram from Anthony Fiala,
the explorer, who is with Roosevelt.
It said:
"Santarem, Brazil (via Pernambuco, St. Vincent and the Azores) March 22.—We have lost everything in the rapids. Telephone my wife of my safety."

No word of Colonel Roosevelt was included and it is possible he may not have had Fiala in his immediate party when the accident occurred.
Mrs. Roosevelt said today that she had received no direct word from Colonel Roosevelt since the accident was reported, but that she was not uneasy. Mrs. Roosevelt was positive that she would have been informed immediately if the Colonel, Kermit or any member of the party
had been hurt.

WILSON SEES SICK BOY

WASHINGTON, March 23.—President Wilson put off affairs of state long enough today to talk to a sick boy. He was nine year old Harry Winthrop Davis of Sewickley, Pa., and his ambition to shake hands
with the president was gratified, even exceeded, since the president exchanged confidences with him. The boy is seriously ill of heart disease.

NEW SOCIAL BILL OF RIGHTS

BERKELEY, Cal., March 23.—A new social bill of rights is being worked out in the United States, in the opinion of Secretary of Commerce William C. Redfield and employers who fail to reckon with it

this in an address to the students of the University of California here

When Charles Hauser insisted on using William Koepke's saloon, French Island, as a permanent lodging house, club room and lounging studio he was invited to depart. Offended at the inappreciation of his company Hauser clamored for revenge, challenging Koepke to step outside and satisfy his honor.

Koepke, an obliging sort of a chap, immediately complied and Hauser started to emulate Jack Johnson. A sudden right to the solar plexus, however,
sent the aggressor down the road at a ten second clip and a few minutes later he appeared at the court house procuring a warrant for the arrest of Koepke.

When arraigned in court this morning Koepke pleaded not guilty and Hauser failing to put in an appearance, Judge Brindley dismissed the case.

DEMOCRATIC SITUATION CONFUSED

Progressives Who Know

on Possible Fight

Attorney William E. Wolfe, La Crosse, being urged as a democratic gubernatorial candidate, today refused to deny that he was considering entering the field for the United States senatorial nomination and refused to discredit an interview to that effect given out yesterday in Milwaukee by Assemblyman E. J.
Kneen, Bangor.

"Although I am not in a position to speak authoritatively in regard to the plans of Mr. Wolfe, I am satisfied if he is a candidate for any nomination on the democratic ticket
it will be for United States senator rather than governor. I am quite sure his preference is in that direction."

The statement of Kneen has caused much speculation among Wisconsin democrats in view of the warm friendship existing between
Mr. Wolfe and John A. Aylward,
Madison, avowed candidate for toga.

The situation, in the event Mr.
Wolfe runs, will be interesting. Mr.
Aylward is one of his closest associates in progressive democratic affairs.

Mr. Wolfe left at noon today for Chicago, presumably to confer with democratic leaders on his candidacy.

cipitated by the deadlock over the naval estimate.

Senator Robert M. La Follette will not wait until the end of the present session of congress but will return to Wisconsin in April.

This is the statement authorized
by Insurance Commissioner Herman
L. Ekern, following a trip to Washington and a conference with the senator and which was not denied here by Lieutenant Governor Thomas Morris, candidate for the republican senatorial nomination.

Coincident with the announcement that La Follette is coming back it became known today that progressive republican leaders are planning a conference in Madison, the first session of which will be held there tonight. Mr. Morris left at noon to attend this conference.

At the conference, it is understood,
complete plans will be laid for Mr.
Morris' senatorial campaign and the situation, in regard to the state ticket, thoroughly threshed out.

It is proposed, it is claimed, to whip affairs into shape for presentation of a formal program to the senator for his approval.

Leaders from all over the state
will attend the Madison conference.

NELSON D. ALLEN DIES AT HIS HOME

Man Prominent in the City
Since the Lumber Days
Succumbs After Six
Six Months' Illness

Nelson D. Allen, a resident of La Crosse since 1862, prominently identified with the lumber business in the days when lumber and allied businesses were the chief industries of La Crosse, died at 10:45 this morning at his home, 136 South Tenth street, after a six months illness with uremia. He was 74 years old.

Mr. Allen was born at Chelsea,
Vt., December 5, 1837. He was educated in the village schools and at the Newbury (Vt.) academy, coming to La Crosse in July 1862. For three years he was a clerk on a steamboat plying on the Mississippi,
later becoming a member of the grocery firm of Giles and Allen.

After six years association with C.
C. and E. G. Smith in business ventures, he became connected with the Colman Lumber company, remaining with the firm up to six years ago, as superintendent of the Colman lumber yards in Minnesota and South Dakota. For the past six years, he had lived virtually in retirement.

Mr. Allen was a member of the Universalist church and was connected with a number of charities.
He was a member of the La Crosse
Board of Trade and also of the Masonic fraternity.

Besides his widow, he leaves two brothers, Nathan of Charlestown, Mass., and Philip of Winona, and one sister, Mrs. Mary Robinson, living in California. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

AFTER TAX DELINQUENTS

J. E. Keizer, county income tax assessor today started an assessment of income tax of persons who are delinquent. Notice of assessment will be sent to 200 persons who have failed to report. After receiving the notice of assessment ten days will be allowed to elapse before the assessment is turned over to the city police for collection.

Hebbard Devises Plan by Which Interest in Organization Will Be Made General

At a meeting of the homecoming,
Fourth of July, made in La Crosse and special finance committees of the board of trade at the La Crosse club
at noon today, it was decided to merge the Fourth of July and homecoming committees, to enable the one to have charge both events. The committee was authorized to appoint sub-committees.

Considerable discussion was held over the proposition to make the homecoming the big event of the series
and the consensus of opinion
seemed to be in advertising the affair as one big week of entertainment.

However, a strong bid will be made to secure the return of former La Crosse people during the week and later citizens will be asked to send in names of friends and relatives
now in other parts of the country.

A resolution introduced by E. M.
Wing asking the council to appropriate a sum to aid in the celebration was passed. Under a new state law the city may appropriate a sum up to $500 for music for park concerts.

The members of the various committees were today enthusiastic over the prospects for a big week all emphasized the immense advertising
value of the various celebrations.

Hurtgen Optimistic
William F. Hurtgen, chairman of the committee on finance, assured members of other committees that the members of his committee would raise the $3,000, estimated to be the necessary expense of the celebration. The campaign for the funds will start at once.

Hereafter every member of the La Crosse board of trade will be a member of some standing committee.
This plan was devised by President
E. S. Hebbard of the La Crosse board of trade and the various committee
appointments will be named later.

Mr. Hebbard was authorized by the board of directors, at its last meeting, to make committee appointments
and to make possible his new scheme of committees. They will be known as the committees on interstate fair and farming. Committees known as unclassified communications and itinerant merchants have been stricken from the list for lack of business.

The committee on conventions and excursions has been divided into two to be known as excursions and conventions while the committee on legislation has been divided into state and national legislative committees.

President's Announcement

"To Members of the Board of Trade:
The most important work of the board of trade is done through its committees. All members should have a part in this work, and by suggestion of the secretary, every member will be appointed this year to a standing committee.

"It seems reasonable that better
results might be obtained if members are assigned to work which they deem specifically important or which is most to their taste. Each member is accordingly requested to advise either Secretary Utermoehl or myself within the next few days as to the committee on which he would prefer to serve.

"E. S. HEBBERD, President."

tions for La Crosse and to assist in

LONDONDERRY, March 23.—
Catholics were thrown into a panic of fear here today when it was discovered that on a number of the homes of church leaders' the words "No pope"
had been written in chalk during the night.

Shots were fired into the homes of many Catholics. No one was injured, but further anti-Catholic demonstrations are feared, which may result in open clashes.

LONDON, March 23.—Before an assemblage which packed the house of commons, War Secretary Seeley admitted this afternoon that many officers of the British army had declined to serve in the event of the occupation of Ulster. Col. Seeley attributed the declination of the men
to serve "under certain contingencies"
to a misunderstanding by the officers ordered on duty.

The movement of troops which has been under way for the past three days, was solely for the purpose of protecting arms and ammunition, the war secretary declared.

Bonar Law Kicks

Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the opposition, was far from satisfied with Col. Seeley's explanation of the activity of the war office and the movement of troops. He insisted upon the fullest debate.

In support of the stand of the opposition demanding a more complete explanation, Bonar Law read a letter quoting General Paget, commander of the troops in Ireland, to the effect that active operations were about to begin and admitting that the war office had issued instructions.

The statement of Seeley had been awaited with the greatest interest
following a hurried conference with King George during the morning
while the cabinet was in session.

Replying to Bonar Law, Premier Asquith heatedly denied the authenticity of the statement quoted from the Paget letter, declaring that the movement of troops was the first step toward the conquest of Ulster.
He also denied that officers had been warned that refusal to serve in Ulster would be followed by dismissal.

The News in an editorial which is typical of the expression of other liberal papers today demands the dishonorable dismissal of the officers who refuse to serve in Ulster.

King Concerned.
King George has shown the greatest concern over the Ulster situation. In order that he may remain in constant communication with his ministers, the king cancelled several engagements.

BELFAST, March 23.—A report that a number of officers of the Royal Irish constabulary were preparing to resign was the new feature today in the disaffection of men in the service of the crown as a result of the threatened occupation of Ulster.

Belfast was quiet today. Sir Edward Carson was still at Craigavon and preparations for armed resistance were still going forward. Drab colored field uniforms for the special service corps of 4,000 men were being distributed today. It is claimed that the unionists have an automobile corps of sufficient numbers to transport at least 2,000 men and arms to any threatened point
within three hours of Belfast.

SPARTA TO DEBATE IN STATE CONTEST

High School Team in Line for State Championship; Defeated Edgerton Team

SPARTA, Wis., March 23.—Sparta High school will be represented in the contest for state championship in debating, for the affirmative team returned from Edgerton early yesterday morning, having won a two to one decision over the boys of that town. Of the four debates our teams have participated in so far this year they have won nine decisions out of a possible twelve. It is not known here when the final championship contests will be held, but it is presumed that the Lawrence College authorities, under whose auspices these contests are being held, will have the contests take place sometime within the next two or three weeks. The belief is felt in Sparta that one of the schools Sparta will have to meet at that time will be the Marshfield High school. They have a fine record in oratory and declamation, it is reported here, and will make a hard proposition to defeat. The question for the semi-finals was the same as the one debated in all the schools of the league this year, namely, "Resolved, that the policy of fixing a minimum wage by state boards is desirable." There were four new men on the Sparta debating teams this year, so it is felt that the boys have done very well. Great credit is due to their debating coach, Mr. Warren O. Griffin.

WILL MRS. MACKAY MARRY DR. BLAKE?

Mrs. Clarence W. Mackay.

Mrs. Clarence W. Mackay, who was recently divorced from her millionaire husband, is now in Paris. Her friend, Dr. Blake, is also in that city. As to the report that Dr. Blake's visit there is for the purpose of obtaining a divorce in the Paris courts in order to marry her, Mrs. Mackay emphatically declares that she knows anything about it.

Viroqua High school played an elimination game in basketball in the Armory here Saturday night. Tomah came over in a special train and the crowd from Viroqua was also large. The game was fast and interesting, but marred by the unsportsmanlike tactics of Tomah. Viroqua was defeated, but Tomah should be ashamed of the action of her players on the floor.

On the same night, the Sparta basketball team went to La Crosse and played the high school of that city a post season game. It ended 67 to 11 in favor of La Crosse. Although defeated, the record of the basketball team for this year is far from bad. They have won more games than they lost, and the basketball season has been a success financially, which is not a small matter to reckon with. The athletic spirit of the high school is now turning to baseball.

Emory Bray, brother of Principal Bray, was present in the high school Friday, and entertained the students for a time in the afternoon with a short talk.

Miss Mildred Rhinehart of Tomah spent Sunday in Sparta visiting with friends.

WILL KEEP TRACK OF COWS COMING IN

On account of La Crosse being a border city, the enforcement of the Wisconsin laws relating to the inspection and condemning of diseased cattle is a hard matter, it being possible to bring diseased cattle across the bridge and sell them in the city before the authorities have a chance to inspect them. Accordingly, Mayor Sorensen has announced after a conference with state Veterinarian O. H. Eliason of Madison and City Veterinarian B. F. Holmes, that the toll takers at the city wagon bridge will be furnished with blanks, the purpose being to take the description of every cow brought into the city, and the name of the owner. It is thought that by the use of this system the inspectors will be enabled to trace cattle easily.

Merely a Small Matter.

"Had you been quarreling with your husband?" a witness was asked at Old Hill. "No," was the reply. "I only hit him with the poker."

Truth and Beauty.

No picture can be good which deceives by its imitation for the very reason that nothing can be beautiful which is not true.—Ruskin.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to flush Kidneys and neutralize irritating acids.

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in avoiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble. Agent, Chas. A. Benschlag, Drugist, 503 Main St.

THE TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

MEN MAROONED

By MARTHA McCULLOCH-WILLIAMS

(Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"If this is not the limit," Milby ejaculated as two tires popped in the same half second, with a sound like cannon, there in the deep green woods.

They were on opposite sides—hence progress was well-nigh impossible without patching—which meant at least an hour's delay. They were already fearfully late—at the best the garden party would be half over. Now—the prospect was to miss it altogether. Milby heaved a deep sigh in thinking so, but Hartwell laughed a lazy, half-satisfied laugh.

"Don't shoot—but truly—I told you so," he said. "Told you we'd never get safe over this vaulted short-cut of yours. Indeed I doubt if it is even a long cut—my sense of direction says it goes away from Gray Top not to it. If you had let me ask that man—"

"Shut up! If me no ifs," Milby retorted. He had got out and was already helping the chauffeur all he dared, having regard for festive attire. Hartwell stretched himself easily on a bank of leaves—the shade was too thick for grass. Though they were old leaves, two dry weeks had made them rustly and fairly sweet-smelling, an inviting bed to a man constitutionally indolent.

"Get up! It's aggravating enough without seeing you look as if you were already at the party—with pretty girls waiting and beaming on your celebrity," Milby commented.

Hartwell only stretched himself more languidly, half closed his eyes and murmured sleepily. "Wake me at the crisis—then I may be some good."

Next second he sprang up, peering eagerly down the wood's lengths. There he saw a sylvan goddess—at least she seemed such, in a short, scant, leather-bordered, dull green frock, with a tiny green cap crowning thick black hair and a curious bundle under her arm. It was really the tripod of a spider-legged folding camera—closed it had some suggestion of Pines o' Pan. She stood still, but hesitant; evidently she had taken in all their mischance. As she met Hartwell's eyes she came forward, stepping with the motion of a fawn.

"May I offer help? You know the comity of motorists."

"Indeed you may. You are an angel of deliverance," Milby interrupted eagerly, running on quickly to explain their plight, their need.

She heard him, smiling faintly, then answered reflectively: "You took the wrong fork at the crossroads. Gray Top is—oh, miles from here. Rough road, too—you'll never make it in time—not even if you started in half an hour. But—don't hate me for a croaking raven—you can get there—if you will—for the jag-end of things."

"If we will! Show us! We'll be your slaves for life," Milby said eagerly.

Her smile strengthened. "Mrs. Gray, of Gray Top, will likewise be grateful," she said. "I know her—a little—but that doesn't matter—to get you there. Take my car; my chauffeur knows a way around that permits speed."

"I think we should do no such thing—staying here is much, much pleasanter than any garden party can be," Hartwell spoke, his first word after a faint greeting.

The goddess laughed softly. "For you, perhaps, but how about the fifty-seven varieties of adoring young women, all prettied up, their very best, in hope to see their pet author? You see I know you, Mr. Hartwell. Your pictures come even here into the backwoods. Besides, I have heard—well, things."

"That does not trouble me—not a little bit—I know you won't tell—not even if they are hanging matters," Hartwell retorted.

She shook her head at him, asking: "How can you possibly know? Are you a wizard—or I wholly transparent?"

"Neither," he answered promptly. "But you are what is much rarer than a transparency—somebody who has the good taste to prefer silence to gabbling, else you'd be at the garden party, not here ready to sacrifice us to the Moloch of hospitality."

"For shame!" the girl said, her eyes twinkling. "Suppose I wasn't asked and sulking, came out here to snap a few silly birds."

"I can't suppose the impossible," Hartwell returned.

She answered only by motioning them to a footpath almost imperceptible, but quickly broadening into a plain track. It led into grounds, delightful, unclipped, yet well kept, then on to a cement garage, in front of which stood a trig car, with a chauffeur lounging at the wheel. Before he could speak, she waved him to keep silence, then bundled those she had rescued hastily inside, gave them a parting smile and vanished in the shrubbery even before the quickening motion had taken them out of sight.

"Extremes meet—good luck and bad," Hartwell said resignedly. "Milby nodded."

"You don't understand," said Hartwell. The good luck was feeling lost and popping those fellows; the ill, having to go on."

Milby shook a fist at him, then began to smoke vigorously. After a bit Hartwell stirred uneasily, saying:

"Now, why wouldn't she come with us?"

Milby flung a kindly oath at him, saying, "I'm jolly glad she didn't. You're hard hit, but I shan't let you see her again. Never told you till now, but this party settles your future; it's got up especially to match you off with Doris Denham—with a rich wife, to back your cursed scruples, your hair-trigger honesty. I'll make you president in about ten years."

"Oh, indeed!" Hartwell flung back shaken with laughter. "Going to do just that for Little Boy Blue. Suppose the lady objects? Are we to try violence—though it is, of course, inconceivable that she should be indifferent to my charms—which have made you my helot since we were in college?"

"Much thanks I get for being it," Milby laughed, then reaching for Hartwell's hand he hurried on: "Laugh if you please—but this is frozen gospel truth. All you need is money—clean money—you would lose out if it was the other sort. Men listen to you, women hang on your words—this writing business has made you a sort of god to them. They'll vote for you solid—and they are going to have the vote almighty soon. So play along at love stories for a little while—even after you marry. Loris Denham has ten millions—"

"Don't you think—abstractly—they might be a trifle unsavory, if they came to me touched with love-making with finance-aforethought?" Hartwell asked, smiling more whimsically than ever. "I'm truly obliged to you, True Thomas, for taking such thought over my future—but it won't, won't work. I'm no Galahad, neither am I the creature that would insult even a half-decent woman by asking her, even letting her, buy me. I can think of nothing on earth more tragic than that I, with my present love and modest estate, should ever fall in love with an heiress. I've cut my heart to flinders sooner than marry her."

Milby stared—then gasped. He had never seen Hartwell so stirred. Here was the end of his fine love-bred scheming. How should he ever tell his confidante, Mrs. Gray?

Her first word relieved him of apprehension in that quarter. "To bad—but Loris went away yesterday—said she had to go abroad to see somebody die. I hope you haven't Rowdy Was Delighted With the Music.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

How Rowdy Shared His Beautiful Home.

ROWDY was a beautiful and very handsome bulldog. He had a lovely white throat, too, and when he went out into the street he wore a fine big collar, which made him look very distinguished," said daddy to Jack and Evelyn.

"Rowdy belonged to a little boy named Alfred. Alfred's mother was a very rich lady, and Rowdy had all the comforts that any dog could possibly ask for. He slept in Alfred's room in a beautiful basket.

"Alfred and Rowdy were really inseparable companions. Alfred was not a very strong little boy. He couldn't join in all the sports that other little boys enjoy. Because of Alfred's ill health he and Rowdy were all the better companions.

"Alfred had a phonograph, which he used to play a great deal. Rowdy would sit before it, so delighted at the music. He'd put his head on one side first and then on the other. Of course Alfred would talk to him and ask him how he was enjoying the music. Rowdy would wag his tail to show he thought it was fine.

"In the afternoons Alfred and his mother used to take drives in a lovely big open Victoria. One afternoon it was beautifully bright and sunny. Alfred's mother said:

"We'll go for a nice long drive today."

"Rowdy," called Alfred, for Rowdy was fast asleep on the sofa.

"Rowdy jumped up eagerly as if he knew something pretty nice was going to happen.

"Rowdy, how would you like to take a drive? Speak and say if you would like it."

"So Rowdy wagged his tail and gave a bark as if to say, 'Charmed!' Rowdy's best collar was put on, and off they started. They had not gone far before they passed a poor, pathetic little waif dog. Rowdy was not snobbish and proud as some dogs might have been, brought up in all the comforts that he had always had. Instead he seemed to feel very sorry for the little waif dog and whined sadly. Then he tried to jump out of the carriage.

"Do you want to take the little waif dog driving?" said Alfred to Rowdy.

And Rowdy showed as well as he could that he would like that tremendously. They took the poor little homeless dog back with them and gave him good food and a nice home. Rowdy seemed to be glad to give such happiness to a little friendless dog, and he seemed to feel that it was giving the dog rare pleasure to have a master like Alfred."

TO REIMBURSE

THE QUARANTINED

A prominent physician of La

Crosse has suggested that families

obliged to submit to the quarantine

should be compensated for their time and enforced idleness by the state.

His point is that the quarantine is not for the protection of the individual

in whose home disease exists,

but is for the general protection of society, and therefore society ought to reimburse him for his loss of time and occupation.

Especially does this seem sound in cases where the family is dependent upon the daily effort of its head.

We believe the time will come when society, through the state, will recognize this obligation. The quarantine is a hardship as now practiced. It is a "necessary evil" that will be more popular when more justly administered.

MILLIONS FOR BAUBLES

"To him who hath shall be given" might be thoroughly demonstrated in the experiences of the man who "hath" a certain five franc piece, could that man be found. The little French coin is indeed elusive. Men have been searching for it from the time of Napoleon, and without success. No wonder the search, for the French nation regards itself as obligated to present the man who "hath" this little coin with a sum which is the equivalent of more than seven million dollars American money. The interesting story is told in a recent issue of The Pathfinder. We quote:

"Somewhere in the world is a small coin in which is hidden a fortune. Among the various coins minted under Napoleon's rule were several millions of five franc pieces and the 'Little Corporal' determined to employ a novel method for popularizing them. A note for 5,000,000 francs—$1,000,000—was signed by Napoleon, folded to a tiny size and inserted in one of the coins. The amount of the note was promised to the person who should find the coin, which was put into circulation with the others.

"Of course, as this fact was widely advertised, everyone who changed a large note demanded the new five franc coins in exchange and usually took pains to probe and sound the metal in the hope of finding the note. Time passed on, however, and the note has never been found. The French nation regards Napoleon's plighted word as a sacred trust and the government holds itself liable for the payment of the note with interest upon demand.

"Principal and interest would now amount to the enormous sum of $7,375,000 and the person who happens to find that particular coin will find himself almost as fortunate as Aladdin, the owner of the famous and mysterious lamp."

It is interesting to imagine the travels of this rich five franc piece. It helped to pay for a lady's hat; it was dropped into the palm of a wayside mendicant; it bought a boy's skates and sweetmeats for a girl; it helped to secure a young man's engagement ring, and it paid a poor widow's taxes. From hand to hand a million times it went on its mysterious way, and each time that it was spent the owner paid millions of dollars for a trinket. What inadvertent spendthrift!

A Wife's Secret

"What an awful time you take to get ready, Mildred! I wonder your husband doesn't object to waiting."

Mildred turned from the mirror with the williness of former actresses in her eye.

"Now, look here, my dear girl," she said, "you're going to be married, so I'll tell you a secret. My husband's never quarreled with me for being late."

"You surprise me, for look at the time you take! Jack would be horribly annoyed."

"It's like this. When he tells me to hurry I say, 'All right, dear. Get your hat and stick and I'll be with you.'"

"Well?"

"You see, I previously hide them both, and when I go down and find them for him it is he that has to apologize for keeping me waiting!"

A Sweeping Assertion

Mary was a fine young specimen of housemaid just over from the Emerald Isle, and imbued with a grim respect and silent fear for all modern conveniences and household inventions.

One sweeping day Mary's mistress, returning from a walk, asked briskly:

"Well, Mary is the parlor swept yet?"

"Shure, I don't know ma'am," replied the girl, trembling. "I put that vacuum thing, that you said would clean it up, inside the room two hours ago, and I'm that paralyzed of the long tailed demon that I haven't dared look inside the door since to see how it's doing its work."—Woman's Home Companion.

The Old Track Gang
"Twas just an old photograph, faded an' yellow,
Long treasured in somebody's album, Ol' know,
But from it came memories, seared an' mellow,
Thet gave me back fri'nds av a glad long ago,

It brought to me moind th' ould thrack gang, begorra,
Thim b'ys av well knew how a rail should be laid;
Thim lads av could work all to-nigh' an' tomorrow,
Thim split on their hands an' go live a grade.

Though humble an' poor, they were min, let me tel ye.
Wid gentlemen's pride in their shew an' bone;
Their hearts were av babes if a sorrow befell ye,
But pity they'd not for a black-gard or drone.

Down there on th' track wid their shovels an' gauges,
Their picks an' their crowbars av hefty desoin,
Ye heard not a word about history's pages,
But: "Squat at thot rail, lads, an' get it in loine."

Shure they had no derricks or fancy inventions,
For liftin' the rail from th' top av th' car;
They used Ol' Irish muscle av Trojan dimensions,
An' tumbled them off wid th' aid av a bar.

They tamped ties an' laughed av their own youthful glory
Wid they wint a-sparkin' on Er-in's ould sod;
They paused now an' thin for th' joke of a shory
An' pitied poor devils thot carried th' bod.

At noon, whin th' boss sounded truce for an hour,
Their dinner pails filled iv'ry inmost nade;
Thin, p'aceful an' calm as a midsummer shower,
They smoked their dudsens in th' cool av th' shade.

But thim was th' ould days, days sacred an' mellow,
Whin thracklayin' skill was a virtue, begob,
So take off yer hat too ould ganus, young fellow;
Thim b'ys could build railroad—an' loaf on th' job.

He was not in a happy state of mind. He had taken passage the last moment to avoid meeting again the one man he feared. For ten years this man had been reckoned among the best. Many believed him dead, and Craig had wished it rather than believed. And then, to meet him face to face in that sordid boarding-house had shaken the cool nerve of the gambler. He was worried and bewildered. He had practically sent this man to ruin. What would be the reprisal? He reached for a mangosteen and ate the white pulpy contents, but without the customary relish. The phrase kept running through his head: What would be the reprisal? For men of his ilk never struck without expecting to be struck back. Something must be done. Should he seek him and boldly ask what he intended to do? Certainly he could not do much on board here, except to denounce him to the officers as a professional gambler. And Paul would scarcely do that since he, Craig, had a better shot in his gun. He could tell who Paul was and what he had done. Bodily harm was what he really feared.

He had seen Elsa, but he had worked out that problem easily. She was sure to say nothing so long as he let her be; and with the episode of the hat-pin still fresh in his memory, he assuredly would keep his distance. He had made a mistake, and was not likely to repeat it.

But Paul! He finished his dessert and went off to the stuffy little smoke-room, and struggled with a Burma cheroot. Paul was a smoker, and sooner or later he would drop in. There would be no beating about the bush on his part. If it was to be war, all right; a truce, well and good. But he wanted to know, and he was not going to let fear stand in the way. He waited in vain for his man that night.

And so did Elsa. She felt indignant at one moment and hurt at another. The man's attitude was inexplicable: there was neither rhyme nor reason in it. The very fact that she could not understand made her wonder march beside her even in her dreams that night. She began to feel genuinely sorry that he had appeared above her horizon. He had disturbed her peace; he had thrown her accepted views of life into an entirely different angle, kaleidoscopically. And always that supernatural likeness to the other man, Elsa began to experience a sensation like that which attends the imagination of one in the clutch of a nightmare; she hung in mid-air; she could neither retreat nor go forward. Just before she retired she leaned over the rail, watching the reflection of the stars twist and shiver on the smooth water. Suddenly she listened. She might have imagined it, for at night the ears deceive. "Jah, jah!" Somewhere from below came the muffled plaint of Rajah.

Next day, at luncheon, the chair was still vacant. Elsa became alarmed. Perhaps he was ill. She made inquiries, regardless of the possible misinterpretation her concern might be given by others. Mr. Warrington had had his meals served in his cabin, but the steward declared that the gentleman was not ill, only tired and irritable, and that he amused himself with the trained parakeet.

All day long the sea lay waveless and unrippled, a sea of brass and lapis-lazuli; brass where the sun struck and lapis-lazuli in the shadow of the lazy swells. School of flying-fish broke fan-wise in flashes of silver, and porpoise sported alongside. And warmer and warmer grew the air.

Starboard was flagged up for cricket, and the ship's officers and some of the passengers played the game until the first gong. Elsa grumbled to Martha. There was little enough space to walk in as it was without the men taking over the whole side of the ship and cheating her out of a glorious sunset.

Martha grew troubled and perplexed. If there was one phase of character unknown to her in Elsa it was irritability; and here she was, finding fault like any ordinary

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody will Know

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and abundant. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get this famous old recipe which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and abundant.

EVANS TELLS OF POLAR HARDSHIPS

Commander E. R. G. R. Evans.

Commander E. R. G. R. Evans, C. B., of the English royal navy, second in command of the Captain Robert F. Scott polar expedition, is now in this country on a short visit. He says that on the trip which resulted in the death of Scott his suffering was so intense that he bit through his lips to keep from screaming. He still bears the scars. He begged to be allowed to die, but his comrades would not give up hope.

BURY JOHN TRACY

The funeral of John Tracy, for a number of years a resident of Onalaska, who died Friday morning at a local hospital, was held yesterday afternoon at three o'clock from the Norwegian Lutheran church in Onalaska, Rev. E. O. Vik of La Crosse, officiating. Burial was made in the Onalaska cemetery.

A certain town council after a protracted sitting was desirous of adjourning for luncheon. The proposition was opposed by the mayor, who thought that if his fellow councilors felt the stimulus of hunger the dispatch of business would be considerably facilitated.

At last an illiterate member got up and exclaimed:

"I am astonished, I am surprised, I am amazed, Mr. Mayor, that you will not let us go to lunch!"

"I'm surprised," exclaimed one of his colleagues, "that a gentleman who has got so much 'ham' in his mouth wants any lunch at all!"—London Globe.

300 EMPLOYEES AT SAFETY MEET

Several Local Men Hear Officials Plead for Carefulness in Railroad Work

A general "Safety First" meeting was held Friday night at the Portage Opera house. Over 300 were in attendance, many of them ladies. A number of agents, telegraph operators, section foremen and others from out of town came to Portage on different trains to attend. Several La Crosse railroadmen were present.

Mr. J. A. MacDonald, superintendent, opened the meeting and stated briefly the object of the movement, "everyone in the performance of his daily duties must use care to protect himself and his fellow workers—he owes to himself and to his family."

Mayor Downey gave a very interesting address on the relation of Safety First to the public in general.

The chairman then called upon Mr. W. Alexander, district master mechanic from Milwaukee. Mr. Alexander gave some statistics issued by the Wisconsin state industrial commission showing that in thirteen months between 7,000 and 8,000 persons were injured, and only 2,500 of them in accidents that might have been prevented by safety devices, and that over 5,000 were due to indifference, carelessness or neglect. But the Safety First movement, he said, was in reality of long standing. The air brake and automatic coupler were invented and put into use long before Safety First was started. The two have done more to prevent accidents than all other safety devices combined. Railroad officials in all departments have long recognized the importance of safety devices and "Safety First."

Mr. A. W. Smullen, general chairman of the Safety First from Chicago, said that no other movement in the history of this country has taken such a firm hold upon the people as the Safety First movement, because it stands for conservation of human life, and the eliminating of the chance takers who are the makers of widows, cripples and orphans. The Safety First movement cannot fail because it appeals to every fair minded man. One hundred and ninety-five men in the last year have been killed and 3,236 have been injured in coupling and uncoupling cars, of which at least ninety per cent might have been prevented. He also solicited the cooperation of the wives of the railroad men to always remind their husbands to practice Safety First.

Some fifty slides were shown of the right and wrong way of men doing their work and lectured on.

The officials in attendance were J. A. MacDonald, superintendent and chairman; W. Alexander, district master mechanic; D. E. Rossiter, train master; F. H. Buffum, roadmaster; A. Z. Taylor, car foreman at La Crosse; H. M. Hansen, R. H. La Crosse; J. Horn, R. H. foreman, Portage; T. Bloomfield, yardmaster, Portage; also General Committee-Conductor H. M. Hatch, Agent W. N. Upham of West Salem, Engineer F. Chapman, Conductor W. Ramsey, Machinist Swinrod of La Crosse and a representation from the repairers and section men.

Mr. A. W. Smullen, the principal speaker, is the general chairman of Safety First committees on the entire Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul system, and is directing the campaign from Chicago to the Puget Sound.

WANTED TO KNOW

The Truth About Grape-Nuts Food

It doesn't matter so much what you hear about a thing, it's what you know that counts. And correct knowledge is most likely to come from personal experience.

"About a year ago," writes a N. Y. man, "I was bothered by indigestion, especially during the forenoon. I tried several remedies without any permanent improvement."

"My breakfast usually consisted of oatmeal, steak or chops, bread, coffee, but now I can enjoy the meal at noon time."

"Hearing so much about Grape-Nuts I concluded to give it a trial and find out if all I had heard of it was true."

"So I began with Grape-Nuts and cream, soft boiled eggs, toast, a cup of Postum and some fruit. Before the end of the first week I was rid of the acidity of the stomach and felt much relieved."

"By the end of the second week all traces of indigestion had disappeared and I was in first rate health once more. Before beginning this course of diet, I never had any appetite for lunch, but now I can enjoy the meal at noon time."

DESCRIBES Y.W.C.A. WORK TO CHURCH

General Secretary Marie Lindgren Tells of the Methods of the Association

Miss Marie Lindgren, general secretary of the Young Women's Christian association, delivered an address upon the work of the association at the Caledonia St. Methodist Episcopal church last evening.

Miss Lindgren first discussed the Young Women's Christian association as a world institution, stating that branches are organized in over thirty different countries, eighteen of which have their own national organization. In the other countries the work is carried on as a missionary endeavor. In these thirty countries, said the speaker, there are over 600,000 members. More than half of these are in the United States.

Miss Lindgren said the work in the U. S. is divided into four branches: City, student, rural and foreign. She spoke of the work in the student rural and foreign associations, but dwelt at greater length upon the city associations, telling of the four-fold basis upon which the work is established, the physical, social, mental and spiritual, enlarging upon what is being accomplished in each of these departments.

"But in all things," said Miss Lindgren, "the Young Women's Christian association stands for the well-rounded Christian life, the motto of the national organization in the United States being John 10:10: 'I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly.'"

Prior to this service, Miss Lindgren spoke at the meeting of the Epworth league upon the subject of missions, her special topic being "Our Share in Missions."

Marriage Law Curiosities.

In West Virginia a man may marry his deceased wife's sister, but is forbidden by law to wed her stepdaughter.

In Massachusetts a man may marry his deceased wife's sister, but is prohibited from wedding her grandmother.

In Maryland whites and negroes or mulattoes who intermarry are "deemed guilty of an infamous crime" and are subject to ten years' imprisonment, but if they go across the border into Pennsylvania and get married there and return to Maryland they are not breaking the law.

In Utah an epileptic woman is permitted to marry after she is forty-five years old, but not before.—New York World.

Avoid Worry.

An eminent physician has stated, as a result of his experience, his opinion that worry kills more people than any single known disease, and is accountable for much of the degeneracy of the present day. It ages more certainly than the hardest work, covering the face with the freckles of unrest. But this will yield to force of will, a determination to fight against it constantly and strenuously.

VAN HISE RAPS
THE TRUST LAW

Wisconsin "U" Head Tells
St. Paul Men Government's Policy Is to Raise the Prices

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 23.—Dr.
Charles R. Van Hise, president of the University of Wisconsin, who was in the Twin Cities Sunday, is strongly opposed to the federal government's "trust busting" policy.

In an address before the St. Paul Association of Commerce he assailed
the Sherman anti-trust law and declared that the government's dissolution progress is raising and not lowering the prices of the commodities affected. It results in a policy of enforced competition wholly opposed to conservation and destructive to natural resources, he said.

"The most important effect of the Sherman act," he contended, "has been the driving of organizations from the pool to the trust, from trust to holding corporation, and from holding corporation to complete merger; an effect the opposite of what is wanted."

Anger's Harmful Effect.

Anger, whether expressed in violent language or not, has a most harmful effect on the heart. Through the nervous system it acts on the muscular structure of that organ as well as
on that of the arteries, and contracts
it. This is always dangerous, as the blood supply is interfered with seriously.

AWAITING FUNERAL

E. L. Atwood, Trempealeau

Pioneer, Overcome by

Apoplexy While Waiting for Friend's Body

TREMPEALEAU, Wis., March 23.

(Special.)—Waiting for the arrival of the funeral procession, to officiate in the last rites of Mrs. Ellen Young, E. L. Atwood, one of Trempealeau's oldest and best known citizens, sank down in the vestibule of the Methodist church at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, and died before medical aid could be summoned. Apoplexy caused his death.

Dr. S. E. Hutchins was called at once, but when he arrived Mr. Atwood was dead.

Mr. Atwood had been a resident of the town of Trempealeau nearly half a century. He was 65 years old.
His father, Royal Atwood, settled in the town about 1865.

Mr. Atwood was for many years a farmer, owning a large place one mile east of this village. About five years ago he rented the farm, and moved to Trempealeau. Since then he has been connected with E. W.
Graves in the latter's mercantile business.

Mr. Atwood is survived by his widow, six sons and one daughter,
as well as a brother, Herman At-

sons, Gene and Ivie, live in Trempealeau, as does the daughter, Miss attle, Wash. Funeral arrangements will not be made until word is received from the absent sons.

CAREER WRECKED TAKES OWN LIFE

Prof. Harry Thurston Peck
Shoots Self in Rooming House at Stamford,
Connecticut

STAMFORD, Conn., March 23.—Harry Thurston Peck, professor in Columbia university, New York city, and an author of repute, committed suicide here today. He shot himself. Professor Peck's body was found in a rooming-house. He was shot through the head and the weapon, a .22 calibre hammerless pistol, lay on the bed beside him.

For two weeks Peck had been living alone at the house where he killed himself.

Egan Over Woman.
Prof. Peck's suicide was the climax of a long train of difficulties which began in June, 1910, when Miss Esther Quinn of Cambridge, Mass., sued him for $50,000 for breach of promise of marriage, alleging improper relations, although he was married.

Miss Quinn won her suit for $50,000 and, later, another suit for $100,000 for libel.
In January last year, Peck's troubles grew worse. Pressed for payment of Miss Quinn's claims he found himself unable to raise the money and filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in the United States district court, in New York.

Forced Out of Position.
Peck, who was a professor of Latin and Semitic language in Columbia, quarreled with President Nicholas Murray Butler after the Quinn affair and shortly after was diplomatically forced out of the faculty.
Previous to that time he had been suspended from active connection with the university.

THE THIRD DEGREE A FILM SUCCESS

To transfer such a play as "The Third Degree" from the stage to the screen must have been attended with extraordinary difficulties. The situations in the play are all strong and logical, the action is constant and demonstrates conclusively that dialogue is not essential to the success of the play.

The title builder used rare judgment and discretion and it is largely to this cleverness that the absence of dialogue is scarcely noticeable, even to one who has never seen the stage production.
The climax is reached swiftly and without the loss of a minute, and every audience will appreciate the splendid work the director has done in building up the sequence of events.

The acting in a feature of this kind is of course the overshadowing factor, and it would be difficult to improve on the work of any of these people. The part of the younger Jeffries and the brutal policeman, captain Fordham, deserve special mention.

The film version of "The Third Degree" consists of five reels and constitutes one and one-half hours of entertainment. This offering is being shown at the Casino today and tomorrow.

TAKEN FOR MASHER WHEN HE TRIES TO RETURN LOST COIN

Running two blocks to return to a young woman a two dollar bill, which had dropped from her purse, only to be mistaken for a "masher" and handed the "icy mitten," was the unique experience of City Comptroller William F. Fries.

A fashionably gowned young woman passed the city hall on State street. She stopped to take a handkerchief from a purse and Mr. Fries, from his office across the street, noticed something drop. Like most plebeians Mr. Fries' ability to see the "long green" is good. He dashed across the street, picked up a bill and chased after its fair owner.

"I beg your paw-don," puffed the rather plump official, "but may I speak to you a minute?"

A stare a sphinx could be proud of was the reply.

"I beg your paw-don," he started again.

"If you don't quit following me I'll call an officer, sir," announced the young lady, thoroughly offended.

"Well, call him, but if this two dollar bill belongs to you take it," announced the exasperated comptroller.

The young lady's hand shot to her purse and then over her face went a variety of colors never seen in a sunset.

Mr. Fries delivered the bill, started back to the city hall, un-mindful of the confused apologies and thanks she attempted to heap upon him.

LONE AUTO BANDIT ROBS AND ESCAPES

ALTOONA, Pa., March 23.—With revolver drawn, an unidentified taxi bandit robbed the Union National bank in this city this afternoon of about $1,000 shot Teller Burket in the stomach, another man in the leg, leaped into his machine and escaped. The man entered, gun in hand, and ordered Teller Burket to hand all over the cash in sight. Burket refused and was shot.

Cashier Rupert and his assistant ran, leaving the bank clear. The robber pocketed his revolver and grabbed bills to the amount of about $1,000.

Just as he was leaving the building, the bandit ran into William Blackburn, a depositor, who grappled with him, but fell with a bullet in his leg.

Caillaux was taken from the St. Lazare prison to the palace of justice again today where her examination on the charge of having murdered Gaston Calmette, editor of the Figaro, was resumed. VILLA ATTACKS IN FORCE TODAY

Big Assault Upon Torreon Begun Late Last Night Under Villa's Command

CONSTITUTIONALIST FIELD HEADQUARTERS, BEFORE LERDO, DURANGO, Mexico, March 23.—Simultaneous attacks by General Francisco Villa's constitutionalist troops are in progress today on Lerdo and Gomez Palacio, the two strongly fortified suburbs of Torreon. Upon the fate of these hangs the fate of Torreon itself.

The combined armies of Generals Tomas Urbina, Rosendo Hernandez and Trinidad Rodriguez, numbering 5,000 soldiers, under the personal direction of Villa himself, began the Lerdo assault late Sunday night. Several batteries of artillery directed by Generals Angeles and Servin were placed in position Sunday morning and poured a terrific fire into the town during the night.

Villa Excited.
General Villa was in a frenzy of excitement during the attack, riding about the field fearlessly. Several times he was seen to stop and instruct a private soldier in the use of a rifle.

Meantime the attack on Gomez Palacio proceeded without interruption. The brigades of Generals Ortega, Pereyra, and Garcia, with the former in command, made this assault. They numbered 4,000 men.

Charge to Resign.
WASHINGTON, March 23.—Practical admission that the resignation of Charge d'Affaires O'Shaughnessy at Mexico City may be a development of the not distant future, coupled with the declaration that, if he does quit, it will be solely because of ill-health, was a feature of President Wilson's talk to newspaper men today. The president denounced as absurd reports that O'Shaughnessy was disgruntled at his treatment by the administration and lauded him as having "handled a very trying situation with credit to himself and the United States."

The president also said that the Vera Cruz conferences between John Lind and Mexican Foreign Minister Rojas were productive of no real plan for a settlement of the Mexican affairs. The only result would be renewed precautions for the safeguarding of Americans in Mexico City or other zones of possible combat.

President of the District Federation of Women's Clubs, today told the United States.

Postmaster General Burleson has issued an order permitting the shipment of crates of eggs, poultry, butter, vegetables and fruit by parcel post. The innovation, which will be tried out at Washington, Boston, St. Louis, San Francisco, Atlanta, Baltimore, Detroit, and half a dozen other postoffices, will soon be extended to all parts of the country.

Move Expected.
"We are expecting this movement," Mrs. Logan said, "and have been preparing for it. Already there is a cylindrical paper mache egg case on the market, in which from one to three dozen eggs may be shipped for six cents."

This new departure will place the housewife in direct communication with the producer and help her in countless ways. It will "cut out" the troublesome marketing, reduce the cost and above all insure fresh and pure edibles."

SOCIETY WITNESSES THE MODERN DANCES

Society turned out Saturday evening to witness at the Hotel Stoddard the tango cabaret inaugurated there by Manager Baker.

The exhibition of modern dances by Miss Helen O'Rourke and her brother, M. J. O'Rourke, Dubuque, Iowa, proved a big attraction and the clever and artistic dancing of the Iowans won continued approval and applause from the 175 guests assembled in the dining room.

The program followed with the flirtation-hesitation waltz and the remainder of the program included the maxixe Brazilian, the one-step, the castle walk, the Robert tango and the hesitation.

Enthusiasm was aroused over the grace of the new dances and at the Elks' club at 10 o'clock this evening the O'Rourkes will make arrangements for a class of local people.

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 23.—Rioting in which a mob of more than 700 men participated with flying stones and bullets, brought death to one youth and wounds to many when an attack was made today on a train carrying strikebreakers to the Gould coupler plant at Lancaster, near here, where a strike has been in progress for a month.

Stanislaus Skonolowski, 17, a member of the mob, fell with a bullet through his head from the rifles of the guards on the train. Shortly after the attack began another unidentified youth was shot through the leg and several of the strikers sustained minor wounds.

When Skonolowski fell dead, the men broke and ran. They carried off the youth known to be wounded, and it is believed, also aided others who had been hit. A squad of deputies were at once rushed to the scene.

Certain-teed ROOFING

GUARANTEED

The General says:

"Some roofing jobbers and dealers refuse to handle Certain-teed Roofing because the profit is not big enough to satisfy them."

Certain-teed Roofing

Quality Cert-ified Durability Guar-anteed

They have not realized that service to their customers builds the best business for themselves. The dealer who is doing the biggest roofing business in his community is the dealer who handles Certain-teed Roofing—because he recognizes service to his customers as the biggest part of his job—and more customers as his reward.

He knows, just as you know, that Certain-teed Roofing will give you the best, the longest and the guaranteed service. He is willing to take his modest profit on Certain-teed Roofing in preference to an inflated profit on any other brand, because he knows there are many more roofing buyers just like you who know and have faith in Certain-teed Roofing and in him.

When you buy roofing of such a dealer as this, you know it is the best roofing service you can buy for your buildings because it is Certain-teed

—guaranteed for fifteen years—backed by the world's three biggest roofing mills, endorsed by your local dealer whom you know and who meets you face to face when he sells it to you.

There is a dealer of this calibre in your neighborhood. He will sell you Certain-teed.

Certain-teed Roofing is sold at a reasonable price everywhere by dealers who believe in giving unsurpassed quality at a fair profit. The amount of Certain-teed Roofing required for an average roof, say ten squares, will cost less than $5 over the cheap, mail-order grade. This small initial cost is saved many times in the fifteen years' wear which is covered by the manufacturer's guarantee.

Sir Gilbert Parker's Great New Novel

"You Never Know Your Luck" Published Complete in the April Munsey

WHEN this novel goes into book form after it has appeared in The Munsey, it will cost you $1.50; in Munsey's Magazine it will cost you 15 cents, and in The Munsey you get it first.

Sir Gilbert Parker is unquestionably one of the first novelists of the day, and one of the most popular. His books, at $1.50 a copy, sell up into the hundreds of thousands—some of them as much as 400,000. With so tremendous a sale at $1.50, what ought the sale to be at only 15 cents? Four million copies, I should say, but as the edition of Munsey's Magazine for April is limited to 500,000 copies, there will be, on this theory, 3,500,000 disappointed persons.

If, therefore, you want to make sure of this new Parker novel at a cost of 15 cents, you would do well to get busy with your newsdealer before his supply of the April Munsey is exhausted.

with a full book-length novel published complete each issue, has hit a new high place in magazine making. I have been studying for a dozen or fifteen years to find a way to give the public brand-new, high-grade books at a price not to exceed 25 cents a copy. I have just now solved the problem through publishing them in my magazine—not serial publication, but as complete as if actually in book form. And in The Munsey they are printed on fine book paper, from large, clear type, and are profusely illustrated.

The Munsey is jam full of good stuff. Its complete novel covers only one side of it. The other side is rich in illustrations, worth-while articles, short fiction and other material—a magazine practically double the size of the average magazine.

On all news-stands, 15 cents a copy; $1.50 a year.

Miss Lillian Gish of the Reliance, whom David Belasco says is the most beautiful blonde he has ever seen, is only 17 years old. She has been before the public since she was six.

Rex Beach has consented to have the Selig Polyscope Co. produce his famous novel, "The Spoilers" in film form. Mr. Beach withheld his consent, until assured that the story would be correctly produced. The Selig company reproduced the street of Nome as they were in the old days, arrangements were made up to really blow up the Midas mines, and the actors in the piece were taken to Alaska in order to get the true atmosphere.

The highest safaried motion picture man in the world is said to be David W. Griffith, who it is declared, receives more than $100,000 a year for producing the Reliance and Griffiths brands of Mutual Pictures.

They were working under water in a glass tank, when the glass broke suddenly, carrying them out with the water, and cutting them terribly on the jagged edges.

HOW FRENCH PEOPLE CURE STOMACH TROUBLE

A household remedy of the French peasantry, consisting of pure vegetable oil, and said to possess wonderful merit in the treatment of stomach, liver and intestinal troubles, has been introduced in this country by George H. Mayr, who for twenty years has been one of the leading down town druggists of Chicago and who himself was cured by its use. So quick and effective is its action that a single dose is usually enough to bring pronounced relief in the most stubborn cases, and many people who have tried it declare they never heard of anything to produce such remarkable results in so short a time. It is known as Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy and can now be had at almost any drug store. It is now sold here by Hoeschler Bros.

My Old Kentucky Home S. C. FOSTER

Rather slow

The sunshines bright in the old Ken-tuck-y home, 'Tis sum-mer, the dar-klies are gay;
The young folks roll on the lit-tle cab-in floor, All mer-ry, all hap-py and bright;
They hunt no more for the pos-sum and the coon, On the mead-ow, the hill and the shore;
The day goes by like a shad-ow o'er the heart, With sor-row where all was de-light;
The head must bow and the back will have to bend, When ev-er the dar-key may go,
A few more days for to tote the wea-ry load—No mat-ter, 'twill nev-er be light;

Music

Imagine an old Kentucky blue grass plantation "befo de wah!" The month is June—queen of all the months. The grass is at its greenest—long, lush and wavy—caressed into ripples now and then by some wandering zephyr. "The meadow's in the bloom"—and the flowers are yielding their sweetest perfume.

The mocking bird is trilling his marvelous notes—bubbling over with ecstasy. His rivals and neighbors are stirred into song likewise—and the scene, indeed, is a place

"where music dwells
Lingering and wandering on as loth to die."

The gently sighing trees, the rustling corn, the brook winding in and out, through grass, leaf and flower—and over all, the marvelous blue depths of a southern sky—ah! what a scene for a painter, a poet or a musician.

NOW, imagine the best type of the old, slave-time plantation negro, forced by the failing fortunes of his master to be sold into a distant land. Parted from his Black Dinah and their little, shining pickaninnies—and carried to the canefields of Louisiana—so unlike his old home—we can picture his loneliness—his desolation—his intense longing, as "the days go by like a shadow o'er the heart"—till the grave seems near and welcome; only a "few more days for to tote the weary load."

Foster expresses all this in his "Old Kentucky Home." The ineffable sadness of the music—the heartbreak in the words—the divine inspiration of both—that only comes to genius—have made this song one of the genuine treasures of American music.

Historic Beard.

The longest beard recorded in history was that of John Mayo, painter to the Emperor Charles V. Though he was a tall man it is said that his beard was of such a length that he could tread upon it. He was very vain of it and usually fastened it with a ribbon to his buttonhole, and sometimes he would untie it by command of the emperor, who took great delight in seeing the wind blow it in the faces of his courtiers.

A TONIC FOR DYSPEPTICS

When food lies undigested in the stomach it ferments and gas forms. This gas distends the stomach and presses on the heart, causing a pain that sometimes arouses fear of heart trouble. The condition in which gas forms is caused by a low tone of the digestive organs and a lack of rich red blood resulting in deficient nerve force. It is a condition that calls for a tonic.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a tonic for the blood and nerves, have been used with great success in the treatment of this form of stomach trouble. Cold baths in the morning followed by brisk friction with a rough towel will help as they stimulate the circulation but a tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills by building up the blood, restoring the nerve force and making the stomach able to do its work gives the most lasting benefit. With their use the appetite increases, digestion becomes normal and improvement in the general health follows with certainty.

You are trying no experiment when you take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They cannot harm the most delicate system.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at the nearest drug store. A copy of the diet book "What to Eat and How to Eat" will be sent free by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

FOREIGN MARKETS

New York Stocks
NEW YORK, March 23. — The stock market opened strong and fairly active, the feature being a gain of 1-1-4 in New Haven.
11 a. m.—The market showed slight recovery from the bear raid of the opening.
Noon.—The market was dull during the second hour, but the prices showed a tendency to harden although there was no notable changes. It was said the early depression in steel and can was caused by the forthcoming absence of a well known capitalist and operator who is going to Europe for his health. Central Leather was the market feature, rising to 36 5-8, a new high for the year.
2 p. m.—There was a decided increase of strength and activity in the early afternoon and the market developed a breadth which pleased the bulls. There was surprisingly little for sale on the upturn. Northern Pacific led the advance on the expectation that 7 per cent dividend could be maintained.
The stock market closed strong and active.

GIBBONS IS READY FOR GUS CHRISTIE

INDIANAPOLIS, March 23.—Following a workout of a month in preparation for his ten round battle tomorrow night with Mike Gibbons at Hudson, Wis., Gus Christie is on his way there today. He is in fine shape and believes he will at least shade the man who has had a little the best of it in three fights with Gus.

Explains Baseball's Popularity. Nothing equals baseball as a popular sport. Baseball stimulates the mind and invigorates, instead of exhausts, the body. It can be played in any field, at almost no cost. Expense is the handicap which keeps tennis and golf out of the running as great popular sports. A baseball game may be played in two hours—an advantage which will ever make it more popular than cricket as an international game.

Now if the Appleton tournament committee was running things in this neck of the woods we presume a game on a neutral floor to decide whether Sparta or La Crosse has the better team, would be in order.

You have got to hand it to Lump Weiss in more ways than one. The little center displayed a new characteristic, that of generosity, when with but five minutes left to play and no field baskets on the Sparta score board, he deliberately handed the ball to a Spartan for the first field score of the game.

Uncle Eben. "A man kin look mighty busy," said Uncle Eben, "an' yet not be doin' much, same as an engine kin blow off a whole lot o' steam fum de whistle."

HIGH ENDS SEASON WITH A VICTORY

Sparta Five Is Defeated by a Score of 67 to 11; Weiss Makes Total of 14 Baskets

Sixty-seven to eleven was the tune to which La Crosse gave the Sparta high school basketball team their defeat Saturday night. From the first toot of the whistle La Crosse worked with all their might piling up the score. Before a minute had passed the La Crosse boys had shoved in a basket. They kept this up for the remainder of the game making a basket every few minutes. During the first half Sparta made only four points on free throws and two field baskets, making a total of 11 points.

Meinert and Weiss both made seven field baskets during the first half of the game while Fay and Zeisler each made one. During the last half Weiss made seven field baskets and one free throw. Meinert made six field baskets, Zeisler made two and Fay and Gardner each made one. Jefferson and Abrahams scored for Sparta. Jefferson made seven points on free throws, and Abrahams made the two field baskets towards the end of the game. This was the last game in which Weiss, Gardner and Meinert will play on the high school team as they finish this June.

The crowd was the largest that ever attended a high school basketball game. The track was crowded and every chair and seat both upstairs and down were filled. The game was followed by a reception.

The lineup follows: L. C. H. S.—Weisse, c; Meinert, f; Zeisler, f; Fay, g; Gardner, g; Sparta—Nichols, g; Hoffman, g; G. Nichols, c; Evans, f; Jefferson, f; Abrahams, g.

Successful Season

This game completed one of the most successful basketball seasons which La Crosse has ever had. The team was beaten only twice, the first time by Sparta by a margin of one point, and the second time by Madison, also by a margin of one point. The total number of points made by La Crosse was 549 as compared with 195 of our opponents. This shows conclusively that La Crosse has one of the best teams in the state. Not considering the Onalaska game which was won by a score of 57 to 0 the La Crosse team made the following points individually during the season: Weiss, 196; Meinert, 134; Zeisler, 94; Gardner, 44; May, 20; Verket, 4.

The season has also been a success from the financial side since all the expenses have been paid from the proceeds of the games and there is still money in the treasury.

Second Team Wins

Preliminary game was between the second high school team and the Sophomores which was the class championship. The game ended sixteen to five in favor of the second team. King and Worth starred for the second team each making three field baskets. Grenzner starred on the other team by making all the points in the first half, which was three.

Lineup: Second—Zeisler, f; Worth, f; Blatter, c; Shall, g; King (Capt.), g; Feinberg, g.

Sophomores—Harris, f; Regat, f; Grenzner, c; Kelly, g; Kulevski, g. Mr. Puckett refereed the big game and Roy Lapitz the preliminary.

JEANNETTE LICKS FRENCH PUGILIST

PARIS, March 23.—Joe Jeannette, the American negro heavyweight pugilist, won the decision over Georges Carpentier, the French champion, on points in a fifteen round bout Saturday night. The contest took place at Luna park, which was crowded.

Jeannette carried the fight to his opponent throughout and piled up a good lead in the opening rounds, which were marked by almost continuous fighting. Carpentier met the negro's rushes cleverly and put up a splendid defensive fight. He had a shade the better of several rounds, but could not overcome the lead of the American, whose heavy punches in the fierce rallies at close quarters staggered the French champion more than once.

Nourishing Drink.

If you oversleep and the good man of the house does not have time to eat his breakfast, make him a generous cup of coffee and add to it a beaten egg and plenty of cream. He can drink this in one minute and will scarcely miss his breakfast. People often have egg drinks at soda fountains, but seldom think of preparing them at home.

No Use for It.

LEVINSKY-MOHA FIGHT TONIGHT

CHICAGO, March 23.—Bob Moha may have met some tough and clever maulers in his career, but judging from the actions of Battling Levinsky, the New York mauler, he will have to show his best if he wants to polish off the invader in their scheduled ten round bout at the Elite rink Monday night.

Levinsky performed for the benefit of a couple hundred fans at Morgenthau's gym Sunday afternoon and on the form shown there it does not appear as though Moha were in for a very pleasant evening. The easterner showed all sorts of speed, boxing four rounds with Jack Lepper, a local lightweight. Of course, Lepper was away outclassed and the bout in a measure was one-sided, but Levinsky showed enough to convince the fans that the odds on the battle, which at present are at 10 to 7, are justified.

RACINE CAPTURES SOUTHERN HONORS

RACINE, March 23.—Racine, playing in fine style, captured the high school championship of Southern Wisconsin by defeating Burlington Saturday 21 to 19. Ten minutes overtime was played before Racine was finally declared a winner.

Women Must Say "Obey."

Church of England bishops recently considered an amendment offered by the bishop of Lincoln to eliminate the use of the word "obey" by women in the marriage service. The bishop of Winchester said: "I cannot help thinking it is a regrettable thing that the word should continue. I cannot say that without saying that in an ideal marriage service I should desire to see some reference to the leadership of the man in the home." And then the bishops avoided a decision by having the amendment withdrawn.
